

Today, let us reflect on a prophetic warning that speaks directly to the time we are living in—a spiritual condition that Jesus said would mark the days leading up to His return.

The Prophecy of Fading Love

In Matthew 24:12 (ESV), Jesus gives a sobering warning:

“And because lawlessness will be increased, the love of many will grow cold.”

This statement is part of Jesus’ teaching on the end times, also known as the Olivet Discourse (Matthew 24–25). He outlines various signs of His imminent return, and among them is this heartbreaking condition: the cooling of love in the hearts of many.

What kind of love is this? While it certainly includes love between people, a deeper look into Scripture shows that the primary love being lost is the love for God Himself.

Understanding “First Love”

To understand what Jesus means, we must look at what the Bible calls the “first and greatest commandment.” When asked about the most important law, Jesus responded in Mark 12:29–30 (ESV):

“The most important is, ‘Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God, the Lord is one.
And you shall love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind and with all your strength.’”

And the second is like it:

“You shall love your neighbor as yourself.” (Mark 12:31, ESV)

Here, we see a clear priority:

1. Love for God
2. Love for others

So, when Jesus says “the love of many will grow cold,” He’s primarily referring to our love for God—which should be wholehearted, passionate, and enduring.

Who Are “The Many”?

This warning is not about unbelievers. As Romans 8:7 (ESV) says:

“For the mind that is set on the flesh is hostile to God, for it does not submit to God’s law; indeed, it cannot.”

The world does not love God by nature. Therefore, Jesus is referring to professing believers—those who once followed Him, prayed, studied Scripture, served, and worshipped with zeal. These are Christians who, over time, allow sin, distractions, and spiritual laziness to erode their relationship with God.

This is what theologians call spiritual apathy or lukewarmness, which Jesus directly rebukes in Revelation 3:15–16 (ESV):

“I know your works: you are neither cold nor hot. Would that you were either cold or hot!

So, because you are lukewarm, and neither hot nor cold, I will spit you out of my mouth.”

The Church That Left Its First Love

This issue is also addressed in Revelation 2:2-5 (ESV), where Jesus speaks to the church in Ephesus:

“I know your works, your toil and your patient endurance... But I have this against you, that you have abandoned the love you had at first. Remember therefore from where you have fallen; repent, and do the works you did at first.”

Jesus praises their perseverance and doctrinal purity, but rebukes them for leaving their “first love”—again, their love for Him.

He gives them a way back:

1. Remember where you fell from.
2. Repent sincerely.
3. Return to doing what you once did when your heart was on fire for God.

This three-step call is not just a suggestion—it is a divine command with a warning:

“If not, I will come to you and remove your lampstand from its place, unless you repent.” (Rev. 2:5)

The Symbolism of the Lampstand

The lampstand represents the presence, guidance, and spiritual vitality of God in a person’s life, a church, or even a nation. Removing the lampstand means spiritual darkness, confusion, and decline.

In the Old Testament, we see how the nation of Israel suffered exile and destruction when they turned away from God. The prophet Jeremiah, for instance, mourns the fall of Jerusalem, which came after years of persistent sin and spiritual rebellion (see Jeremiah 25:4-11).

How Does Love Grow Cold?

It doesn’t happen all at once. It starts subtly:

- Prayer becomes infrequent.
- The Word of God no longer stirs the heart.
- Church attendance becomes casual or optional.
- Sin is tolerated or justified.
- Serving God feels like a burden instead of a joy.
- Love for others grows superficial or conditional.

The result is a believer who is “lukewarm”—present in body, but absent in spirit.

A Call to Revival

But there is hope. God is always calling us back. Lamentations 3:22-23 (ESV) reminds us:

“The steadfast love of the LORD never ceases; his mercies never come to an end; they are new every morning; great is your faithfulness.”

If you’ve drifted away from your love for God, today is the day to return.

Return to the place of prayer. Return to the Word. Return to worship. Return to your first love.

As James 4:8 (ESV) promises:

“Draw near to God, and he will draw near to you.”

Final Encouragement

If you're reading this, it's a sign that your lampstand is still burning. The grace of God is still present in your life. But don't wait until the flame dies out. Now is the time to rekindle your love for Christ.

These are perilous times—just as Jesus warned. But in these times, the faithful are called to shine brighter than ever.

May the Lord bless you, strengthen you, and restore your first love.
