

“Be alert and of sober mind. Your enemy the devil prowls around like a roaring lion looking for someone to devour.”

1 Peter 5:8 (NIV)

Introduction

Blessed be the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. In this study, we're addressing a spiritual reality that is often ignored or misunderstood the unique spiritual vulnerability of women to deception and demonic influence, and the biblical call to vigilance.

1. The Origin of Deception: Eve in the Garden

1 Timothy 2:13-14 (NIV):

“For Adam was formed first, then Eve. And Adam was not the one deceived; it was the woman who was deceived and became a sinner.”

Paul's instruction to Timothy connects spiritual authority and vulnerability to the creation order and the events of the Fall. Eve was deceived first, and this was not incidental it reveals something crucial about the human susceptibility to spiritual deception.

Theologically, this does not make women inferior in worth or dignity (see Galatians 3:28), but it does underscore a particular vulnerability in spiritual discernment, especially when outside of God's order and Word.

2. Saul and the Medium of Endor: A Spiritual Warning

1 Samuel 28:7 (NIV):

“Saul then said to his attendants, ‘Find me a woman who is a medium, so I may go and inquire of her.’”

When King Saul turned away from God's voice, he sought answers from a medium. Notably, he asked for a woman. While men also practiced sorcery (see Exodus 7:11), women were commonly associated with mediumship in the ancient Near East. Saul's request reflects this cultural and spiritual reality.

In Scripture, mediums are condemned (see Leviticus 20:6, Deuteronomy 18:10-12), yet the fact that a woman was the one Saul sought out shows a pattern of spiritual susceptibility and involvement that continues to this day.

3. The Slave Girl in Philippi: Possession Through Divination

Acts 16:16-18 (NIV):

"Once when we were going to the place of prayer, we were met by a female slave who had a spirit by which she predicted the future..."

Paul and Silas encountered a young girl who was exploited by her owners through a spirit of divination likely a python spirit (Greek pneuma pythōna), associated with false prophecy and occultism. Even though her words sounded affirming (“These men are servants of the Most High God...”), Paul discerned the demonic source and cast it out.

This example shows that demonic spirits can speak religious truths, but they operate from a place of deception and bondage. The girl’s gender is again noted not because men cannot be possessed, but because women were culturally and spiritually more often used by such spirits.

4. The Witch of Endor and the Exodus Law

Exodus 22:18 (KJV):

“Thou shalt not suffer a witch to live.” (Note: NIV translates this more broadly as “Do not allow a sorceress to live.”)

While both genders are capable of practicing witchcraft, the Bible specifically identifies sorceresses female practitioners as especially dangerous. This reflects a theological pattern:

deception often gains a foothold where discernment is lacking, and in biblical history, women were often entangled in such spiritual roles due to societal marginalization and spiritual exploitation.

5. Why Are Women Still the Primary Target?

In the modern world, many women though not all remain spiritually vulnerable due to an emotional, intuitive nature that, while God-given and valuable, can be exploited by deceptive spirits when not grounded in the Word.

Women may be: Quick to believe spiritual-sounding messages, Drawn to emotional religious experiences without discernment, More easily influenced by trends or popular teachings without testing them.

This is not a condemnation, but a call to rise in spiritual maturity and discipline.

6. The Call to Spiritual Discernment

1 Thessalonians 5:21 (NIV):

"But test them all; hold on to what is good."

1 John 4:1 (NIV):

"Dear friends, do not believe every spirit, but test the spirits to see whether they are from God, because many false prophets have gone out into the world."

John 6:63 (NIV):

"The Spirit gives life; the flesh counts for nothing. The words I have spoken to you they are full of the Spirit and life."

Jesus Himself confirmed that His words are Spirit and life. Therefore, any word we receive, any teaching, and even any dream or vision must be tested against the Word of God.

7. The Word of God: Your Only Safe Filter

Hebrews 4:12 (NIV):

“For the word of God is alive and active. Sharper than any double-edged sword, it penetrates even to dividing soul and spirit...”

If you only rely on sermons or social media teachings without reading the Bible yourself, you're spiritually unarmed. The Bible is your lens, filter, and spiritual weapon. Without it, you are spiritually blind.

Women who don't study Scripture for themselves often end up believing lies, getting caught in spiritual confusion, and even being used unknowingly by the enemy.

8. Conclusion and Exhortation

Dear sister in Christ, understand this: the devil sees you as a high value target. He knows that by deceiving one woman, he can influence a household, a church, even a generation.

But you are not powerless. You are not weak in Christ. You are fully capable of growing in wisdom, discernment, and power through the Holy Spirit.

James 1:5 (NIV):

"If any of you lacks wisdom, you should ask God, who gives generously to all without finding fault, and it will be given to you."

Let this be a call to serious discipleship. Study God's Word. Pray daily. Test every teaching. And walk in the power and authority of Christ.

May the Lord bless you.
