

A Theological Reflection for Believers

Understanding Your Identity in Christ

Many Christians rejoice in the truth of their salvation but are unaware of the spiritual implications it carries. One profound aspect of the believer's identity is captured in the phrase "the fragrance of Christ." This imagery, drawn from the Apostle Paul's teachings, speaks of influence, presence, and spiritual witness how we "smell" to the world around us, both to those who are being saved and to those who are perishing.

1. The Nature of Fragrance: Attractive Yet Divisive

Fragrance is designed to attract. In ancient times, it was associated with sacrifice, honor, and worship. In our time, perfume is applied to enhance one's presence. However, as anyone who has worn perfume knows, what is pleasant to some may be unpleasant to others.

Spiritually, this concept still holds. As believers, we carry the "aroma of Christ", which is pleasing to God but may not be welcomed by all people.

2 Corinthians 2:14-16 (NIV):

“But thanks be to God, who always leads us as captives in Christ’s triumphal procession and uses us to spread the aroma of the knowledge of him everywhere. For we are to God the pleasing aroma of Christ among those who are being saved and those who are perishing. To the one, we are an aroma that brings death; to the other, an aroma that brings life. And who is equal to such a task?”

- Paul uses the imagery of Roman triumphal processions, where incense was burned as a sign of victory. To Roman citizens, the aroma meant celebration and life; to captives, it was the scent of impending death.
- Similarly, to those receiving the Gospel, believers represent the scent of salvation and hope. To those rejecting it, our lives serve as a reminder of judgment and spiritual death.

2. You Are Pleasing to God Even If You Offend the World

As Christians, we are called to live holy and set apart lives. This lifestyle is a sweet offering to God, modeled after Christ, whose entire life was a “fragrant offering” to the Father.

Ephesians 5:2 (NIV):

“...and walk in the way of love, just as Christ loved us and gave himself up for us as a fragrant offering and sacrifice to God.”

When you live according to God’s Word, your life exudes a spiritual fragrance. This includes your character, prayers, worship, fasting, and preaching. These are pleasing in God’s sight and build up the body of Christ.

But the same lifestyle may be repulsive to those who live in rebellion against God. They may not understand why they oppose you, but light always exposes darkness.

John 3:19-20 (NIV):

“This is the verdict: Light has come into the world, but people loved darkness instead of light because their deeds were evil. Everyone who does evil hates the light and will not come into the light for fear that their deeds will be exposed.”

3. You Will Face Rejection Even Hatred

Jesus never promised popularity for those who follow Him. Instead, He made it clear that rejection by the world is evidence of alignment with Him.

John 15:18-20 (NIV):

“If the world hates you, keep in mind that it hated me first. If you belonged to the world, it would love you as its own. As it is, you do not belong to the world, but I have chosen you out of the world. That is why the world hates you.”

- Your fragrance is spiritual, not just moral. The more Christ is formed in you, the stronger that fragrance becomes.
- Those under conviction will sometimes respond with hostility not toward you personally, but toward what your life represents.

Romans 12:1 (NIV):

“Therefore, I urge you, brothers and sisters, in view of God’s mercy, to offer your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy and pleasing to God this is your true and proper worship.”

Living sacrificially means you may lose popularity, friends, or opportunities but in doing so, you offer your life as a holy and pleasing fragrance to God.

4. Not Everyone Will Understand Your Faithfulness

Being faithful to Christ doesn't always produce earthly favor. Sometimes it invites spiritual resistance. This is why Paul asked, "Who is equal to such a task?" (2 Cor. 2:16). Being the fragrance of Christ requires boldness, endurance, and the help of the Holy Spirit.

2 Timothy 3:12 (NIV):

"In fact, everyone who wants to live a godly life in Christ Jesus will be persecuted."

Persecution whether mild or severe is not a sign of failure, but of faithfulness.

Remain Faithful as the Fragrance of Christ

If you have received Christ and are walking in obedience to Him, know this: your life has a scent, one that is pleasing to heaven even if it stirs resistance on earth.

Don't be discouraged when others oppose you. Don't be surprised when your holiness agitates those who are still bound by sin. Remember, you are the fragrance of Christ bringing life to some, and exposing death to others.

Stand firm. Love boldly. Speak truth. And continue to walk in the aroma of Christ.

Galatians 6:9 (NIV):

“Let us not become weary in doing good, for at the proper time we will reap a harvest if we do not give up.”

May the Lord strengthen you to be a pleasing aroma in His sight. Amen.
