

Why did God create you exactly the way you are? Why didn't He give you horns on your head, or fleshy crests like those of a rooster, or two antennas like a snail or insect? Instead, He placed hair on your head.

The voice of God is revealed in our very design. The way we are made is not because this is the most beautiful or perfect form God could imagine for man. No — He could have created us in many more “impressive” ways. But He made us this way with a unique divine purpose. Our form is not primarily about beauty but about function and revelation.

For example: if you cannot understand how the organs of your own body work together, you will also fail to grasp how the Body of Christ is meant to function when it gathers. Scripture says, “If one member suffers, all the members suffer with it” (1 Corinthians 12:26). We are created with divine intention — not for outward perfection, but for spiritual lessons.

It is like being asked: between a cooking stove and flowers, which is more important in your house? Most people would choose the stove — not because it looks better, but because it serves an essential purpose. In the same way, every part of your body is designed with meaning, to teach you something about your Creator and your walk with Him.

Today, let us consider the spiritual lessons of our hair. Another time, we will look at other parts of the body.

1. All Your Affairs Are Counted by God

“Even the very hairs of your head are all numbered. So don’t be afraid; you are worth more than many sparrows.” (Matthew 10:30-31)

When trials come, it is easy to think that God does not see or care. But Jesus reminds us that if the Father has counted even the countless hairs on our heads, then every detail of our lives is under His watchful care. Nothing happens outside His knowledge and permission.

Application:

When you feel anxious or forgotten, remember: your hair is a daily testimony that God has already numbered your steps (Psalm 139:16).

2. You Cannot Escape Enemies

“Those who hate me without cause are more than the hairs of my head; those who would destroy me are powerful, my enemies without reason.” (Psalms 69:4)

Just as your hair is numerous, so also are your adversaries. But the Bible makes clear that “our struggle is not against flesh and blood, but against rulers, authorities, and powers of this dark world” (Ephesians 6:12).

Even Jesus — who was sinless — faced constant opposition. Why then should we be surprised when enemies rise against us? The call is to remain steadfast in prayer and walk in the ways of the Lord, for victory belongs to Him (Romans 8:37).

3. You Cannot Control Everything — Practice Self-Limitation

“Do not swear by your head, for you cannot make even one hair white or black.” (Matthew 5:36)

We often deceive ourselves into thinking we are in full control. But Jesus reminds us that even something as small as a single strand of hair is beyond our power.

Application:

Avoid rash vows and exaggerated promises. Let your words be simple and true: “Let your ‘Yes’ be ‘Yes,’ and your ‘No,’ ‘No’” (Matthew 5:37). Anything beyond this comes from the evil one. Remember: your hair testifies daily that life is sustained by God, not your own control.

4. Value Your Spiritual Strength

Your hair also symbolizes spiritual power. The Nazarites of the Old Testament were forbidden to cut their hair as a sign of consecration (Numbers 6:5). Samson’s strength was tied to his uncut hair as part of his covenant with God. When Delilah cut it, his strength departed (Judges 16:19-20).

Yet Scripture also says:

“But the hair of his head began to grow again after it had been shaved.” (Judges 16:22).

Application:

Guard your spiritual strength! Sin and compromise allow the enemy to shear away your power. Though God can restore, restoration often comes with scars. Samson regained his strength, but only after he lost his eyesight and faced death. Treasure the anointing you have; do not let the devil’s razor touch it.

5. There Is a Time for Mourning and Prayer

“Cut off your hair and throw it away; take up a lament on the barren heights, for the Lord has rejected and abandoned this generation that is under his wrath.” (Jeremiah 7:29)

In the Old Testament, shaving one's head was a sign of mourning, humiliation, and repentance before God (Job 1:20). In the New Covenant, mourning is expressed through deep prayer, fasting, and repentance.

Just as we regularly trim our hair, so also we are called to regularly humble ourselves before God, seeking His face with tears and brokenness of spirit (Joel 2:12-13).

Conclusion

Beloved, your very body is a sermon. Your hair is a preacher reminding you that:

- God counts all your affairs.
- Enemies are inevitable, but victory is assured in Christ.
- You cannot control everything — surrender to God.
- Spiritual strength must be protected.
- There is a time to weep, repent, and pray.

The question is: Do you allow your own body to teach you the voice of God?

May the Lord bless you richly.

“Therefore, glorify God in your body and in your spirit, which are God’s.” (1 Corinthians 6:20)
