

Wingulama Shahidi, the heart of the gospel is not just about the message, but about the messenger. The messenger is the one who brings the message to the people.

The messenger is the one who brings the message to the people. The messenger is the one who brings the message to the people. The messenger is the one who brings the message to the people.

The messenger is the one who brings the message to the people. The messenger is the one who brings the message to the people. The messenger is the one who brings the message to the people.

Wingulama Shahidi 53:2-5 (ERV-HI)

“The messenger is the one who brings the message to the people. The messenger is the one who brings the message to the people. The messenger is the one who brings the message to the people.”

The messenger is the one who brings the message to the people. The messenger is the one who brings the message to the people. The messenger is the one who brings the message to the people.

The messenger is the one who brings the message to the people. The messenger is the one who brings the message to the people. The messenger is the one who brings the message to the people.

The messenger is the one who brings the message to the people. The messenger is the one who brings the message to the people. The messenger is the one who brings the message to the people.
